2022 CONFERENCE | TAURANGA

29 SEPTEMBER - 1 OCTOBER 2022
TRINITY WHARF WATERFRONT HOTEL

NZIBS 2022

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Welcome to the New Zealand Institute of Building Surveyors Annual Conference 2022 - Riding the Wave.

After a tumultuous two years we thought it apt to theme our conference around our ability as business people to ride the wave of change.

And as Tauranga is known for its beautiful beaches, using this surfing analogy certainly fits.

This year the focus of the conference will address the changing face of New Zealand in the light of the pandemic, climate change and the evolving building surveying industry.

Come and join us in this coastal metropolis. We are looking forward to seeing you there for the opportunity to hear what's happening in the region and the usual friendly debate as we catch up in this beautiful part of the world.

FRIDAY 30 SEPTEMBER

This year we are delighted to have some excellent speakers presenting on a variety of topics, among them, the dynamic Sean Colgan, Chairman, International Materials and former Olympic Rower, and Jane Arnott, Director Ethics Conversation who is an engaging speaker, joining us this year in Tauranga after being set to visit Nelson last year before the conference cancellation.

From Infometrics, we have Principal Economist Brad Olsen. He doesn't have a crystal ball about the future of the building industry from an economics perspective, but his insight and experience are a close second.

David Soper is the Senior Regional Facilities Manager for Colliers, bringing us a wealth of knowledge and experience in this area.

Mark Irving, Priority One will be taking us through the Tauranga CBD Blueprint project. As the Project Manager, Mark will be presenting on the topic, followed by a walk through the CBD, so make sure to leave your heels at home.

Peter Wolfkamp will be the MC for the day. No stranger to public speaking, Peter who has worked in the building industry since 1987 is the host of the Newstalk ZB's talk show, The Resident Builder, and the site foreman on the tv series The Block.

And last but most definitely not the least, Gareth Wallis, Tauranga City Council GM: City Developments & Partnerships will be providing the keynote address. As the head of one of the largest transformational projects ever undertaken by a local authority in New Zealand, we are honoured to have Gareth as the NZIBS Conference Keynote Speaker.
